The Fourth Young Researcher Conference on Language and Culture:

Mapping New Spaces

20 April 2016

Częstochowa, Poland

The aim of the conference is to promote academic accomplishments of young scholars and enhance their research skills by creating an opportunity for the presentation of their work, confrontation with other young researchers and academics, and exchange of ideas and research findings. Since it targets undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate students, as well as young academics of various fields of research, the conference is meant to provide a useful forum for an interdisciplinary dialogue and interaction among young scholars so as to highlight the multidimensionality and interdependence of diverse areas of study.

By comprising an array of disciplines the conference will attempt to showcase some of the latest achievements of research, seek feasible paths of its further development, as well as offer an insight into the academic accomplishments of students and other young scholars from Poland and abroad.

Conference participants may present their research work through a miscellany of alternatives, such as papers, talks, multimedia shows, workshops, and posters. The language of the conference is English. All the participants will receive certificates of attendance.

In order to address a multitude of studies, the conference will proceed in five major panels, addressing a broad range of issues, including but not limited to:

- English literature; American literature; comparative literary studies;
- culture studies;
- general linguistics; applied linguistics;
- English language teaching and learning;
- translation studies.

Young researchers are invited to register for the conference and submit 200-word abstracts of their proposals in the attached registration form by 15 March 2016 to the conference email address: mapping.new.spaces@gmail.com

Notifications of acceptance shall be sent to the participants by 31 March 2016.
